History of Plymouth

PRIMITIVE OCCUPANTS

The story of the aboriginal occupancy of the territory embraced in this work is like all such accounts, anything but proved; yet the ancient stories handed down from generation to generation and the finding of various Indian relics from time to time have given some accuracy to the accounts.

It is said that the Indians living in this territory were very nomadic in their habits. The name Nipmuck was given to the tribes living in these regions, the name meaning "dwellers by fresh water."

The individual tribes took names, as a rule, from the lake, river, or mountain, near which they happened to be camping. Thus we find the Pemigewasset for the river by that name. The Squamscotts for the river and lake Squam.

It is ascertained by the finding of relics that the vicinity of Plymouth was a favorite camping ground for Indian tribes, as was the vicinity of Holderness, Ashland and probably the other towns embraced in this book.

It seems as though some of the tribes in this vicinity were somewhat friendly to the early settlers. Tradition says, but for an Indian and his strategem, Lieut. Thomas Baker and his party of explorers would have been entirely obliterated and massacred at the junction of the Baker and Pemigewassett rivers in what is now Plymouth or in the near vicinity. This was probably in the year 1712 or 13.

During the early settlement of this region it is said the families were kept in constant anxiety because of attacks from the French and their Indian allies coming down from Canada.

DESCRIPTIVE INFORMATION

Plymouth, one of the shire towns of Grafton County, in New Hampshire, is situated upon the west bank of the Pemigewassett River, which divides the town from Holderness and Ashland.

On the north is Campton, on the south Bridgewater and Hebron, on the west Groton and Rumney.

Plymouth is accessible to the outside world by the Boston and Maine R. R., the White Mountain division connecting points to the north and south, as far as Groveton north, and Boston and New York by the Montreal express, south. The Pemigewassett Valley Branch connects with Compton, Woodstock, etc., as far as Lincoln, a distance of twenty-two miles.

Well may this be termed "The Gateway to the Mountains," as through here tourists approach Mt. Washington, and can also go direct to Montreal from Boston and New York in well equipped and rapid express trains.

The village is seated on terraces rising from the valley of the Pemigewasset to beautiful plateaus above. The church spires, symbols of God's great goodness; the thrifty and well kept farms and their buildings, and the many residences and business houses as seen from the neighboring hills, show the peace, contentment, and industry of a law abiding community.

This beautiful picture has for its setting a pleasing variety of meadow and hill, river and pond. Its people are intelligent and well read. The educational facilities are excellent, there being a fine High School and the State Normal School located here. Three flourishing churches, a public library, and various societies, etc., for improving the individual and the town.

EARLY GRANTS AND SETTLEMENT

Plymouth was originally granted by Governor Benning Wentworth July 15, 1763, to the following grantees:

*Stephen Ames, ‡Theodore Atkinson, ‡Theodore Atkinson, Jr., *Joseph Blanchard, *Elnathan Blood, *Elnathan Blood, Jr., *†John Brown, *†Josiah Brown, *James Cowan *Ebenezer Cummings, *†Jotham Cummings, *Samuel Cummings, Esq., *Samuel Cummings, *William Cummings, Thomas Davis, *David Emerson, Jr., Nathaniel Garfield, *Samuel Goodhue, Sannel Hale, *Ebenezer Hartshorne, John Harvell, Jacob Hildreth, *†David Hobart, *†Gersham

Hobart, *†James Hobart, *John Hobart, *Jonathan Hobart, *Peter Hobart, *Jonathan Johnson, *Abner Keyes, Jonas Keyes, *Oliver Lawrence, Phineas Lund, Thomas McCluer, William McCluer, Onisephorus Marsh, Moses Merrill, Thomas Merrill, James Nabor, *William Nevins, William Nutting, ‡Matthew Patten, *Benjamin Parker, Oliver Parker, *†Zachariah Parker, *Richard Pierce, *John Phelps, Amos Phillips, *Francis Powers, *†Nahum Powers, *Stephen Powers, *William Read, ‡Col. Joseph Smith, ‡William Temple, Esq., Samuel Thompson, ‡James Underwood, Joseph Warner, *Meshech Weare, *†Abel Webster, ‡Benning Wentworth, *John Willoby, *†John Willoby, Jr., David Wright.

Many changes have been made in the town's original area. As early as 1780, troubles had arisen in this and other towns relative to charter bounds, and on the 27th of October of that year, the Legislature appointed a committee to settle the question. They reported as follows:

“Beginning at a pine tree on the western bank of the Pemigewassett river, opposite Holderness Corner, where the line of Campton crosses the river, thence on Campton line south 86° west about five miles, to a hemlock tree, the northeast corner of Cockermonth; thence south 30° west five miles, one half mile and forty rods, to a beech tree; thence south 37° west five miles and two hundred and eighty five rods, to a beech tree on Grafton line; thence south 65° east two hundred and sixty rods to a beech tree standing on the curve line; thence following the curve line about twelve miles and a half mile to a white oake tree standing on the bank of Pemigewasset river, and thence by said river to the bound began at."

These bounds took from the northern part of the town a track of land which the inhabitants of the town considered belonged to them, and petitioned the Legislature to have it restored which was done by an act passed June 21, 1793. This act also annexed to Plymouth some lots of land belonging to Nathaniel Peabody known as "the Everett farm and the Withey lot." By an act passed June 15, 1792, the southwest portion of the town was set off to form, with a portion of Cochermonth (now Groton), the new town of Hebron. Finally June 26, 1845, some lots were severed from the northwest corner of Hebron and annexed to Plymouth, while its area was still further enlarged by the annexation of a portion of Campton, June 27, 1860, so that it now has an area of 16,256 acres, about 10,500 of which is improved land.

EARLY SETTLEMENT

In November 1762, a party of eight explorers came up from Hollis to cut a path and select a place for settlement. These men were: Elnathan Blood, Josiah Brown, Jotham Cummings, Col. David Hobart, Zachariah Parker, David Webster, John Willoughby and his son, afterwards "Elder" Willoughby. The natural facilities attracted them to this place. Returning to Hollis, they procured the charter of Plymouth July 15, 1763. Eight men were employed here through the summer of 1763, and others the last part of the year, in preparing to receive their families. A part of these men spent the winter in the town.

During the spring of 1764, the first families arrived. The testimony is conflicting as to the order of their coming; but Abel Webster, John Willoughby, Jr., Silas Brown and others were certainly here in June; James Hobart and Zachariah Parker, probably, and perhaps David Webster and Josiah Brown.

Before the year ended Jotham Cummings, James Blodgett, Samuel Dearborn, Ephraim Weston and Stephen Webster with their families had arrived all from Hollis, except Weston, Dearborn and Stephen Webster who were from Chester.

So many families were ready to go to the new colony in the spring of 1765, that the proprietors voted to hold their next meeting in Plymouth, this they did on July 17, 1766, at Stephen Webster's.

In 1767, the census was taken, there were 227 inhabitants in the town. In 1774, the population was 345.

The first English child born in town was Lydia Webster, daughter of Stephen and Lydia Webster; the date of her birth was April, 1765. Josiah Hobart was the first male child.

THE TOWN

The proprietors or early grantees having built the first roads, settled a minister and got the town started, found in 1766 that the population was large enough to become a self-supporting town.

On July 17 of that year the first town meeting was held at the home of Stephen Webster, and the affairs taken over by the town. The following town officers were elected:

Moderator, Stephen Webster; town clerk, Stephen Webster; selectmen, Stephen Webster, Lieut. Winthrop Wells, John Willoughby; counstable, David Webster; auditors, Ebenezer Hartshorn, Abel Webster; sealer of weights and measures, Gershom Hobart; surveyors of Highways, Ebenezer Hartshorn, Capt. Ephraim Wesson; fence Viewers, Gershom Hobart, Zachariah Parker; deer reeves, Jotham Cummings, Silas Brown; tythingmen, Capt. David Hobart, James Hobart; hog reeves, Abner Keyes, Stephen Webster Jr.

At this meeting no important business was transacted but a second meeting followed on Oct. 16, 1766, at the house of James Hobart. Capt. David Hobart chosen moderator. The town voted "to raise two pounds and ten shillings in money for the town's use for the present year." At this meeting the town formally agreed to assume the contract made by the proprietors for the support of Rev. Nathan Ward.

POINTERS PERTAINING TO PLYMOUTH

Daniel Webster in 1806 made his first criminal plea in the old Court House, now Public Library.

Nathaniel Hawthorne died in 1864, in one of the rooms of the old Pemigewassett House.

A post route was established through the town June 27, 1781. John Balch appointed post rider.

First Post Office in Plymouth 1791, established by the state. Dr. John Rogers was first post master, and only one ever appointed by state for Plymouth.

United States took control of Plymouth Post Office in 1795.

Post Office was moved into Kidders' Block, its present location, in 1887.

Post Office at West Plymouth in 1830, discontinued in 1900. Present post master Chas. C. Wright. Asst. Edson M. Barker, and two clerks.

Gross receipts year ending Mar. 31, 1908, over $10,600.

Average pieces handled 2,500 daily, first class about 8,000. Second class about 1,200. Remainder divided between third and fourth.

Number of mails, week days, eleven out and same number in. Sundays, two out and two in.

Between 4,000 and 4,500 people reached by this Post Office and its five rural free delivery routes, located as follows: Boute No 1, about 20½ miles, takes in old West Plymouth.

Route No 2, about 21 miles, takes in Bridgewater Hill.

Route No. 3, about 22 miles, takes in Old Campton Post Office and Easton Corner.

Route No. 4, between 22 and 23 miles, covers North Holderness.

Route No. 5, 24 miles through West Campton and Campton Bog so called.

Town has two Hospitals, both on Highland street. The Balch Cottage Hospital and Dr. Ernest Bell's Sanitarium.

Town has good service in both local and long distance telephones. The Western Union also has station here.

Streets are lighted by electricity furnished from the plant of The Plymouth Electric Light Company.

Town has a well shaded park located in square formed by Highland street and Main street, in front of Court House.

Town is supplied by excellent spring water from the hills by the Plymouth Aqueduct and Water Company, this with an excellent system of hose houses and companies furnishes protection in time of fire.

The real estate valuation of the town is: Resident, $845,652; non resident, $14,908. Number of polls, 616. Population in 1900, 1,972. Estimated present population, 2,300.

MILITARY AFFAIRS

The town of Plymouth almost without exception was patriotic, perhaps to the extreme, during those early days of conflict for independence and freedom of thought. Later in the conflict to decide the unity of the nation, founded upon the sacrifice and bloodshed of those early pioneers, the descendants of many an earlier veteran did his part nobly.

Again in '98 the call of the Nation did not pass unheeded by the sons of Plymouth. Through all this account militant there appears no blemish; the records are such as should arouse the pride of any town.

THE REVOLUTION

1775—This year in Plymouth, as in nearly all the early settlements, was a year of preparation. A committee of safety composed of Samuel Emerson, Thomas Lucas, James Harvel, Benjamin Gould, David Hobart, Jotham Cummings, David Webster, John Willoughby and Elisha Bean was chosen. Abel Webster represented Plymouth, Campton and Rumney at the provincial congress.

Aug. 24, 1775, David Hobart was commissioned colonel and David Webster Lieut. Col. of the eleventh regiment comprising Plymouth, Holderness, Campton, Thornton, Rumney, Cockermouth, Alexandria and New Chester.

Nathum Powers and William Nevins were the first men of Plymouth to enlist. Other men to enlist this year for varying periods were: Thomas McClure, Joseph Smith and Joseph Davis in Col. Stark's Reg't., Jotham Cummings, 2nd Lieut.; William Greenough, drummer; Silas Brown, Samuel Drew, Hugh Ramsay, Zebediah Richardson, Samuel Wallace, James Whiting in Capt. Thornton's Company and Samuel Ambrose company of Capt. Noah Worcester.

1776—Many reenlistments and new recruits were made this year, among them being: Amos Webster, Ensign; Paul Wells and William Tarlton, Serg'ts.; Edward Evans, Nathaniel Webster, Ebenezer Blodgett, Thomas Lucas, Ezekiel Keyes, Stephen Keyes, David Nevins, David Nevins, Jr., Nehemiah Snow, Nahum Powers, James Barnes, Joseph Hobart and Jeremiah Blodgett in the company of Capt. Edward Everett of Rumney. John Calef in Capt. Young's company.

In the company of Capt. Jeremiah Eames of Northumberland: Zachariah Parker, Lieut.; Dr. Abijah Wright, Samuel Marsh, James Whiting, David Cunningham, John Wiloughby and Edward Taylor. John Phillips in Capt. Thomas Simpson's company.

Abel Webster, Amos Thompson, Nehemiah Hardy, Daniel Wheeler and David Durkee in company of Capt. John House of Hanover.

Henry Snow and Ebenezer Keyes in Reg't. of Col. David Gilman of Pembroke. During this year Ebenezer Blodgett and Jeremiah Blodgett died of camp fever.

1777—A good many of the names following are reenlistments and some of them enlisted more than once during the year. At the battle of Bennington, Solomon Hobart was killed.

Among those serving from Plymouth this year were

Paul Wells, James Barnes, Elijah Lucas, Samuel Hull, Nathaniel Hull, Silas Brown, Joseph Hobart, John Phillips, Abel Webster, Jr., Edward Evans, Benjamin Phillips, David Nevins, Sr., Henry Snow, Josiah Willoughby, Joseph Smith, Peter Stearns, Serg't.; Benjamin Wells, Corporal; Josiah Brown, Jr., Michael Dearborn, Solomon Hobart, Francis Worcester, Jr., Daniel Clough Webster, Samuel Marsh, Ezekiel Keyes, George Patterson, Nehemiah Snow, James Blodgett, John Willoughby, Jr., and Zebadiah Richardson.

1778-83—During this period very few if any new enlistments occurred, and the time was mostly devoted by the citizens of Plymouth in overcoming the effects of the preceding years of conflict.

WAR OF 1812

Plymouth's quota of men was small, but she did her part by sending the quota desired.

The names given from Plymouth were: Humphrey Webster, John L. Robbins, Isaac Chamberlain, Corporal; Asa Robbins, David Alls, Ira Morse, Jonathan Hall, Joseph Chamberlain, Jonas Keyes, Reuben Draper, Thomas Robie, Serg't.; Laban Keyes, John Fuller, Jonathan Dearborn, Peter Draper. There were others who had lived here or came here to live later; among these were: Walter Melvin, James Pebbles, David Burleigh, Benjamin Glover, Daniel Sanborn and Deacon Simeon Sanborn.

It is impossible to enter more fully upon this period without encroaching upon State or National history.

CIVIL WAR

The people of Plymouth took an active part in the years of bloodshed known as the War of Rebellion. This active part is by no means confined to the male population of the town, but was shared by the sturdy and patriotic mothers, wives, sweethearts and sisters of those at the front in response to their Nation's call.

The appended list is a partial one of those men born in Plymouth who marched away for their country and in many cases perhaps never to return. We should like to publish a complete list of those who have lived here either before or since the war and are natives of other towns, but space forbids.

WAR WITH SPAIN

Plymouth according to her custom responded to the call of the Country and sent some of her sons to do or die in the Country's cause. Among these were: Capt. Frank W. Russell, promoted to Major; Robert Burns, Rank Major, Surgeon of the Regiment.

Geo. H. Colby, 1st Lieut., Captain and Paymaster in State service.

William Wallace Russell, Trumpeter; John Z. Goodwin and Anthony K. Hanson in Company H.

Alvah C. Cousins, Artificer; Alvin P. Burleigh, George A. Corliss, Harry F. Dearborn, Perley F. Morton, William A. Scales in Company K. Arthur Gault served in Company C.

CHURCHES.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The date of the beginning of this church upon its life of activity is incidental to that of the early history of the town. About April 16, 1764, the town "voted to hire Mr. Nathan Ward to preach four days in the township aforesaid this spring." The article in the warrant for the meeting read:—

"To see what meethod the Proprietors will Take about Settling a minister at Plymouth and Likewise to see if they will be at the Cost of Hiring sum Preaching there the year insuing and also to Raise money if there is need to Defray the charge, and to actt and do away other things which may then be thought proper by the Proprietors."

The subjects probably of the first two discourses Mr. Ward preached in Plymouth, and doubtless the earliest sermons ever given in this town were, Isaiah I, 19: "If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land," and Luke XV, 24: "For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost and is found. And they began to be merry." The date on which these sermons were delivered is supposed to be about Sunday, May 19, 1764.

This church is the oldest in Grafton County. For some time the Proprietors carried on the affairs of the church, then the town took up the duties and carried them out until 1780, when fifteen of the tax payers were exempted from paying to support a minister not of their faith.

This division did not by any means sever the good feelings of the towns people and the friendships continued as they should, among the disagreeing parties.

The first meeting house was built at the foot of Ward Hill. This was probably about 1768, and was used twenty years.

Work on the second house of worship began in 1787, and the last of this year the first was burned, and for a time services were held in a spacious barn of King George, on Rumney Road. The second church was finished the last of the year 1788. Its location was on the lot west of the present school house on Ward Hill. In 1827 a belfry was added and a bell placed therein.

This second edifice was used jointly by the church and town until 1836. At this time the church society decided they needed a larger and more pretentious house for Divine worship. During that year (1836), the present church home was constructed, and from time to time goodly sums of money have been expended in repairs and improvements, until today the society owns a finely equipped church home, suitable for any of the functions likely to be held by such an organization, and the pastor of the church, Rev. C. W. Wilson, resides in a beautiful and homelike modern dwelling owned and used by the society as a parsonage.

METHODIST CHURCH

The beginning of the early preaching by Methodist preachers was probably about 1800. For some years there is no positive record of any actual work being done, although it can be ascertained that this town was undoubtedly covered by some of the early circuit riders, so called. The following testimony to that effect is taken from Dow's Journal, dated during autumn of 1802:

"I came over the river into New Hampshire where I met Martin Ruter going to form a circuit. I saw Elijah R. Sabin who had been a zealous and useful preacher, but was now broken down * * * I had meetings in Haverhill, then rode to Plymouth and Holderness and Meredith and Gilmanston, and the melting power of God seemed to be present in many places.”

The first church, built of brick and located in West Plymouth, was erected in 1823, and was removed in 1865.

The first stated preaching in the village proper was by Rev. William Nelson, in 1831, and a hall owned by Nathan Harris was used for the assemblies.

The first meeting house of this society in the village was built in 1833. It stood on the site of Mason's Block. This was enlarged several times and occupied until the present substantial edifice was erected in 1872. A bell was purchased in 1888, the money coming from a legacy of John H. Gill.

The first parsonage was purchased in 1842, and was occupied until 1872. The present parsonage was purchased in 1876. The pastors since 1884 inclusive, are:

1884-5, William E. Bennett; 1886-8, Thomas Tyrie; 1888-90, Roscoe Sanderson; 1891-2, David E. Miller; 1893-5 George N. Dorr; 1896-7, John A. Bowler; 1898, John H. Emerson; 1899-1901, Willis M. Cleveland; 1902-4, Robert T. Wolcott, and the present pastor, E. C. E. Dorian.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

The first preaching of this denomination was in 1850, by Rev. James H. Shepard but was discontinued until 1856, from this date until 1876 only occasional services were held.

In 1876 steps were taken to procure permanent preaching of this faith by means of public subscription, this was generously aided by members of the other denominations. In 1884, Oct. 28th, the present commodious brick edifice was dedicated. Rev. DeWitt Riley is the present pastor, succeeding Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles who did a good deal in the upbuilding of the denomination in this town.

BAPTISTS

There is no recorded evidence of any actual transactions being made or business done under this denomination although it is known that in 1777 there were some of this belief, and at the present day there are a few families who have embraced their doctrines, they either attend the services of the other churches or of the Baptist churches in other towns.

INDUSTRIES

In accordance with the usual custom of early settlements in New Hampshire, the first mills to be located in a town were a saw mill and grist mill. Sept. 3, 1764, it was voted by the early proprietors to give to Elnathan Blood and Benjamin Wright, lots 15 and 16 as mill lots and the necessary irons for constructing a saw mill and grist mill in Plymouth. During the winter of 1764, the irons were brought to Plymouth on a hand sled from Concord.

For reasons unknown these men failed to comply with the agreement, and in Hollis at the inn of Samuel Cummings, Feb. 12, 1765, the proprietors decided "to give Mr. Ephraim Lund the same encouragement towards building the mills at Plymouth that was formerly voted to Elnathan Blood and Benjamin Wright."

Lund combined the two mills under one roof, but owned them less than two years, when in consideration of £56 11s. 4d., he sold to James Gordon of Boston the mills and sixty acres of land. During years following many mills were built, but the dates or circumstances of their building were seldom recorded.

The Village Grist Mill was built in 1888, by James K. Pierce. He died in the autumn of 1900, and a few months later the mill was purchased by William Patterson.

The Park Mills owned by William R. Park and William R. Park, Jr., who conducted a general lumber business where Foster's Peg Mill now stands. They moved from this town in 1896.

The Chase Mills were erected in 1897, firm name W. G. & J. H. Chase, motive power 250 horsepower steam engine; doing general lumber business.

Plymouth Veneer Company, incorporated in 1892, Dec. 14th, business suspended 1901. They still own the plant, machinery etc., occupied by Beal Mattress Company which moved to Plymouth in 1904, from Oxford, and are doing a thriving business.

The Foster Peg Mill, erected in 1897-98, near junction of Baker's and Pemigewassett rivers, by Jacob R. Foster. To the manufacture of pegs has recently been added that of bobbin making. The present management are Edwin J. and George R. Foster, sons of the proprietor. Motive power, steam engine; equipment consisting of every labor saving device known to the business.

The Glove Industry was here for many years the principal industry. The first glove stock known to the world was made by Alvah McQuesten, a tanner of this town. For generations many of the town's business men were at one time or another connected with the manufacture of Plymouth Gloves, of these were: Alvah McQuesten, Jason C. Draper, Oliver S. McQuesten, Arthur Ward, Chase W. Calley, Nathaniel F. Draper, Samuel C. Heath, Daniel H. and Henry C. Currier, Ezra W. Avery, Amasa W. Avery, Thomas F. and David Glynn, Pelatiah Russell, Henry S. George, Horace W. Smith, George P. French, Blair & Burleigh, Smith & Marden, John T. Cutler & Sons, Ferrin & Wilkinson, Erastus B. and Gill F. Dearborn. The only persons at present engaged in this business are Frank C. Calley and J. Gill Fletcher.

The Draper-Maynard Company, known the world over for their celebrated line of sporting goods, have a large and commodious factory located on North Main St. They were formerly engaged in business at Ashland, but removed their business here in 1900, and have gradually withdrawn from the glove business and are engaged almost entirely in making sporting goods. The firm is composed of Jason F. Draper and John F. Maynard.

Plymouth Creamery Company, a co-operative organization formed May 20, 1893. The farmers of Plymouth and Campton receive about $26,000 annually and deliver about 1,600,000 pounds of milk.

EDUCATIONAL

Education and religion went hand in hand in the minds of the earlier settlers. The training of mind and morals was regarded by them of the greatest importance, especially is this so of the early settlers in Plymouth.

Tradition says Stephen Webster Sr. instructed the children of the neighborhood in his home. We also learn that various of the early dwellers took a hand in the instruction of the early Plymouth schools.

At the present time there is a very proficient corps of teachers for the lower grades, and the Plymouth High School, established in 1883, and twenty years a part of the Normal School, now has a beautiful home of its own, where the students receive instruction from a very brilliant and talented board of instructors.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

The early history of this excellent institution dates back to the early history of the town. At that time it was known as the Holmes Plymouth Academy, and was established by an act of legislature approved Dec. 7, 1808, after many discouragements, and because of increasing indebtedness the institution died a natural death, and the school property was disposed of.

The New Hampshire State Normal School was erected by an act of legislature approved July 2, 1870. The old Academy buildings were repurchased with all the grounds.

By terms of the act of 1870, the trustees were instructed "to give notice by publication, that they will receive proposals from towns, corporations or individuals, to furnish lands, buildings or funds for the school, and they shall make such selection of locality as will, in their judgment, best subserve the interests of the institution, and shall establish said Normal School with as little delay as possible."

Quoting from the trustees' report:—

Notice was given, by publication, for proposals from towns, corporations and individuals to furnish school property and funds, on condition of securing the location of the school. Several towns responded liberally, among which were Plymouth, Walpole, Fisherville and Mount Vernon, offering an aggregate of about $125,000.

After due deliberation, and in view of all the advantages to be secured, the trustees unanimously decided to locate the school in the beautiful town of Plymouth, which had offered, in real estate and cash, some $42,000.

This explains the locating in the old Academy buildings and grounds.

In 1889 legislature appropriated $60,000 for a new and larger building which was ready for occupancy in the year 1891. With one or two slight exceptions the school has had a remarkable and steady growth and continued prosperity.

With a continuance of her fortune in the future, as in the past, in regard to trustees and instructors, a constant pursuing of her liberal policies, and with her extensive curriculum, New Hampshire State Normal School has prospects of a bright and useful future.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

As early as 1807 a library movement was started, this was little more than a circulating plan that benefitted only a few.

To the young women of Plymouth and their constant zeal in behalf of this important movement, which was started by them in 1873, Sept. 2d, the town is indebted for their present public library. For years it was known as The Young Ladies' Circulating Library. The first officers were: Ida M. Stearns, president; Elizabeth Andrews Dodge, vice pres.; Carrie Elizabeth Hall, secretary; Clara Thompson Clark, treasurer. The directors were Ada Elizabeth Howe, Elizabeth Dearborn, Clara Eaton Cummings, Annie M. Dearborn and Julia Eliza Hobart. First librarian, Eliza Ann Hilton Cummings.

For years this organization persevered and by persistent effort gathered money, by plays, fairs and subscription, until, in recognition of its good work, the town in 1885 made an appropriation for its benefit. Previous to this another important step was taken, namely, the moving into the present home of the organization, this was made possible by Senator Blair who purchased the old Court House and moved it to its present site, adjoining the new and more pretentious county building. This was done in 1876.

Since 1896 it has been run jointly by trustees chosen by the town and the directors of the library association.

SOCIETIES

Olive Branch Lodge, No. 16, F. & A. M., October 1803, local records say 26th, Grand Lodge records the date 25th; has been in active work since instituted.

"The object of this club shall be to broaden and strengthen the moral, social and intellectual life of its members, and through them to make itself a power for good in the community."

Any one conversant with the course of lectures and other entertainments, etc., given under their auspices will certify that they are doing a good deal toward upholding their constitution.

THE COUNTY BUILDINGS

When the County of Grafton was first organized, in 1773, the only towns in the county then containing over three hundred population were Haverhill, 387; Plymouth, 345 and Hanover 342, and at that time the principal towns in northern New Hampshire.

A number of towns in different parts of the county petitioned for sittings of the court, but the Governor and Council designated Haverhill and Plymouth to serve jointly as county seats.

On April 23, 1774, at a session of court holden in Haverhill, 'twas left to a commission who "were empowered to agree with David Webster for the hire of his dwelling house and temporary goal adjoining, upon the best terms they can until the next General Sessions."

David Webster lived on the site of the present Penigewassett House; during 1774 a structure was completed to serve as a court house very near his dwelling. For some reason, so tradition says, he, at his own expense, removed the buildings across the street westerly to a lot of land which he gave to the county for this purpose. For nearly fifty years this served as one of the seats of Justice for the County of Grafton.

In 1823 a new and more pretentious court house was built. The old court house with its historical memories was deserted, and for years served as a wheelwright shop or left to dream of its past importance. The restoration of this historic relic (about which we spoke more fully elsewhere), was left to Henry W. Blair, in 1876.

The third and present county building was erected in 1889, on the site of the second, and has for its neighbor the first, now used as a library building.

History of Ashland

DESCRIPTION

We can do no better than to quote the following taken from an article by Leon Burt Baketel in the Granite Monthly for March 1901. It is certainly no exaggeration.

“In the heart of the old Granite State, surrounded by hills, which anywhere else would be called mountains, lying in the beautiful valley of the Pemigewasset is a small town. Small in name and population, but great in the men and heroes it has sent into all parts of the world to help make it better. This and more can be said of Ashland, which is one of the beauty spots of New Hampshire and a thriving, enterprising post village.

Ashland is noted in many ways, some being its manufactures, its delightful location and healthful climate, its men, who after being schooled in life here, have been sent out into the world and become great. Again one cannot overlook the excellent facilities for summer outings, for here during the season a large number of vacationists are to be found, either in the village, on the hills surrounding it, or on the banks of the beautiful Asquam lake which borders on the town limits. All the beauties and advantages of nature are not claimed for Ashland, but certainly it has its share. And this fact is deeply appreciated by all residents and visitors."

Ashland is the smallest township in Grafton County, having only 3,853 acres of improved land. It is bounded on the north and northeast by Holderness, on the south by New Hampton in Belknap county, and west by Plymouth and Bridgewater. The surface of the town, rough and broken, is so diversified as to present very charming scenery.

Directly through the centre of the town extends a highland called Christian Hill; from this the land slopes to Owl brook a tributary of Squam river and west to the Pemigewasset which washes its western border. The scenery is greatly enhanced by a beautiful sheet of water known as Little Squam lake which extends into the town of Holderness. Squam river, the outlet for this body of water, flows through the town on its way to mingle with the waters of the Pemigewasset; in its passage it furnishes a considerable amount of water power for manufacturing purposes. The soil is by nature hard and somewhat sandy, but when properly cultivated yields abundant crops.

Railroad facilities are excellent, this station ranking high in amount of work done in the long list of stations on this White Mountain division of the Boston & Maine R. R. which passes through the southwesterly portion of the town.

TOWN AND TOWN OFFICERS

THE EARLY HISTORY OF ASHLAND is combined and interwoven with that of Holderness, as at its settlement it was a part of that township and to the account of that town we direct the reader for information.

Ashland became a separate town July 1, 1868, and it was a literal independence, for, so we are informed, the voters of Holderness proper refused through their majority to pass any votes for appropriations or other improvements for the village, or what is now the town of Ashland.

At some of those town meetings it would be necessary to continue the meetings for two and three days before the business could be completed.

Ashland at the separation had to start handicapped, being compelled to assume about two-thirds of the town debt of Holderness. All that the town possesses today in the way of developed advantages is due to the push, patriotism and good common sense of the older town's people and its inheritance by the present generation.

To Col. Thomas P. Cheney, the grand old man of the town now over 80 years of age, are due a good many of the town's movements toward betterments and modern improvements. He being the originator and "pusher" of a great many of them, carrying them all to a successful termination.

The name Ashland is supposed to be for Henry Clay's Old home Ashland, Kentucky. It is said that the naming of the town was left to fate, as of course there were nearly as many names proposed as there were people, and the whole written on pieces of paper were placed in a hat and the first one withdrawn was the name by which the town has since been known.

The following defines the town limits and is taken from the act of the General Court approved July 1, 1868, a copy of said act being found on the town record.

“That all that part of Holderness lying within the following lines and bounds to wit: Beginning at the corner of the town New Hampton and Centre Harbor on the boundary line of said town of Holderness, thence north two and one-fourth degrees west one mile and twenty-one and forty-eight hundredths rods to stone, thence north thirty-two and one fourth degrees west three miles and two hundred ninety three and twenty-one hundredths rods to stone, thence north eighty-two and one-fourth degrees west one mile and one hundred sixty-eight and eighteen hundredths rods to the Pemigewassett River, thence southerly by said river to the northerly corner on said river of said town of New Hampton, thence on boundary line of said New Hampton to the point of beginning—be and the same thereby is severed from said town and made a body politic and corporate by the name of Ashland.”

At the first town meeting July 25, 1868, Hosea C. Thompson, was chosen moderator; Geo. R. Prescott, town clerk; Ambrose Scribner, treasurer; and Benj. B. Worthen, Wm. P. Drake and Jeremiah M. Calley, selectmen of the new town.

The town officers since 1880, have been as follows:

SELECTMEN

- 1880—Ben. B. Worthen, Henry Page, Benj. F. Pease.
1881—Eri G. Clapp, Calvin Swett, Edwin B. Currier.
1882—Eri G. Clapp, Edwin B. Currier, Arthur S. Clark.
1883-84—Geo. B. Stevens, Stephen C. Baker, Benj. F. Cox.
1885-86—Eri G. Clapp, Frank P. Nichols, Chas. H. Sanborn.
1887-88—Jas. F. Huckins, Edward P. Warren, Frank H. Leavitt.
1889—Albert A. Porter, Frank H. Leavitt, Albert L. Smith.
1890—Frank H. Leavitt, Albert L. Smith, Richard F. Sanborn.
1891—Frank H. Leavitt, Geo. W. Baker, Frank Fifield.
1892—Frank Fifield, Frank H. Leavitt, Earl P. Harrington.
1893—Frank Fifield, Earl P. Harrington, Eugene A. Stowell.

1908—Frank Fifield, D. S. Bates, Thomas E. Carr.

TOWN CLERKS

1880-82, B. B. Worthen, deceased, A. E. Porter; 1883-87, A. E. Porter; 1887-1900, Ora A. Brown; 1900-08, Roy H. Spaulding.

TOWN TREASURERS

1880-85, Frank L. Hughes; 1886-91, Francis M. Hughes; 1892-1908, Ora A. Brown.

CHURCHES

FREE BAPTIST—This is the oldest of the churches in town, having been organized Nov. 26, 1818. The present fine building was erected in 1834. The following have served as pastors: Revs. John Pettengill, E. True, H. Webber, Mr. Newell, Sidney Frost, C. Purrington, Mr. Sargent, Lewis Malvern, Thomas Tyrie, J. T. Ward, Mr. Dudley, Mr. Noyes, D. W. Davis, A. J. Eastman, E. E. Clarke, J. Franklin Babb, and Rev. Mewell A. Avery.

Recently a considerable sum of money was expended upon the church and grounds, putting them in excellent condition.

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL—The history begins about 1789, with Rev. Robert Fowle, B. A., Newburyport, Mass. as pastor. After his death no regular services were held until Aug. 9, 1855.

Oct. 23, 1864, the present church edifice was consecrated to the worship of Almighty God, by Bishop Chase, assisted by former pastors.

Revs. Robert Fowle, J. R. Pierce, Dexter Porter, Henry Hazzard, Howard F. Hill, Frederick M. Gray, Geo. G. Jones, Lorin Webster, James Carmichael, Jr., William Lloyd Hines, Robert H. Ferguson, James Thompson and H. L. Wood have served as rectors at St. Mark's.

THE METHODIST CHURCH was organized in 1896, Sept. 7th, with six members, as follows: Daniel C. Hill Esq., Mrs. Mary A. Brown, Mrs. Annie B. Ames, Mrs. Elinor Clifford, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Mitchell, and Mrs. Amy M. Heath. The services were held for some time in the Town Hall. Rev. J. A. Bowler was pastor and Rev. Z. W. Curl presiding elder at its organization.

The following have served as pastors since its organization: J. A. Bowler, E. C. E. Dorion, A. E. Draper, J. E. Swett, and E. C. E. Dorion, its present pastor, also serving at Plymouth.

The first meeting in the present church on Washington street was held May 22, 1898. To Daniel C. Hill Esq. is due much of its present prosperity. The church lot is a gift from him.

ST. AGNES CATHOLIC CHURCH—It is thought about the time of the building of the Concord & Montreal railroad that the first Catholic families moved into town. About once a year Rev. Isidore Noiseux of Lancaster attended to the spiritual wants of the little flock. This was from 1860 to 1866, after which he made three visits a year. When St. Joseph's parish in Laconia was established, with the late Rev. John Murphy as pastor, the Catholics of Ashland were enrolled in this parish and the successive pastors of that church ministered to the wants of the Ashland families till July 12, 1891. On this date Rev. John E. Finen of Concord celebrated Mass in Peavey's Hall, and at the close he announced that he had been appointed pastor of Tilton and Ashland.

From this date until June, 1884, services were held on alternate Sundays at Peavy's Hall and later in the Town Hall, till December 21, 1898. On June 1, 1899, the present beautiful sanctuary was opened for worship. It is free from debt.

Soon after the Baptist church came the Congregational. They built a home of worship but proved weak. For nearly two years they stood alone, 1838-40. They then took in the Universalists, using the church alternating weeks. In 1845 the Methodists organized and used the church with them, about 1853 the three expired as churches.

EDUCATIONAL

The town is divided into two school districts, the village making one and the rural districts comprising the other. The schools are merely those of the lower grades or common schools. The students attending High school mostly go to Tilton or Plymouth.

The Town Library has been in existence since 1872. The first location was where Col. T. P. Cheney's house now stands, several other locations were selected.

When the new town building, or hose house, also selectmen's room was built, about 1902, the Library was removed to this building. Mrs. Lucy A. Dearborn is librarian. The rooms are opened Saturday afternoon and evenings.

MILITARY ACCOUNT

CIVIL WAR

By rights the narration of the events that stirred the homes and aroused all the pent up emotions of the people in this vicinity correctly belongs to that of Holderness. Through the patriotism of the Women's Relief Corps and the O. W. Keys Post, G. A. R., and the generous aid of the citizens, it was made possible to dedicate to the memory of these heroes a beautiful shaft or monument which is now located in the square in front of The Thompson House, but for a time was placed on the lot in front of the Town House.

The dedicatory exercises were held May 30, 1899. The address was delivered by Col. Daniel Hall of Dover. Other speakers were Mrs. Margaret Fuller, Past National President of W. R. C., Rev. James Thompson, and Rev. E. C. E. Dorion.

On the monument are the names of the Town Committee, Thomas P. Cheney, 6th N. H. Vols.; Frank L. Hughes, 12th N. H. Vols.; and Edw. P. Warner, 143d Ind. Vols., that had the matter in charge, also a statement in regard to when dedicated, with a roll of the soldiers' names, as follows:

Oscar A. Plaisted, Cyrus Plaisted, Joseph C. Plaisted, Ai T. Plaisted, Samuel S. Plaisted, Thomas C. Peaslee, Aquilla E. Peaslee, Thomas Sculley, Nathaniel Shackford, Edwin L. Shepard, Albert Y. Smythe, Miles M. Sweney, Aquilla E. Small, Hiram Small, James R. Small, James O. Smith, Jonathan Stewart, Alpha P. Smith, Henry H. Smith,

John H. Thompson, John C. Thompson, Charles W. Thompson, Nathan H. Thompson, Moses D. Tirrell, Hiram S. Woodman, William B. Welch, Augustus W. Wilder, Geo. B. Willoughby, Benj. Gray, John I. Cault, Samuel Cault, Leroy S. Heath, Addison W. Heath, William W. Harriman, Nathan T. Hackett, W. F. Harris, Hiram Harris, Hosea B. Harris, Sylvester D. Howe, Clark V. Hines, Wm. J. Howe, Frank L. Hughes, Job C. Jenne, Oloff L. Jewett, Orlando W. Keyes, Henry F. Keyes, John F. Lougee, Joseph Lambert, Cyril Lambert, John F. Lord, Daniel S. Mooney, Rufus M. Merrill, Warren F. Martin, Joseph Appleyard, John M. Annable, Calvin M. Andrews, Geo. W. Andrews, Sam H. Baker, Washington I. Baker, James S. Baker, Osmond T. Baker, Oris W. Baker, James A. Baker, Walter E. Blanchard, Hollis S. Blake, Wm. W. Ballard, Peabody O. Blake, Aaron Buzzell, Chas. R. Berry, Aaron R. Cate, Omar W. Cate, Willis H. Clark, Oliver T. Craig, Thomas P. Cheney, Sam F. Cheney, Daniel P. Cheney, William N. Clement, Newell Davidson, Frank W. Ellison, Joseph Ellison Jr., Chas. W. Taylor.

SPANISH WAR

The following men served Ashland in '98: Sam Baker, Chas. Thompson, Eugene Mitchell, Ed. Boynton, Fred Crockett and Chas Rowe.

INDUSTRIAL ACCOUNT

It would seem that the early settlers in this locality were brought here because of the water power furnished by the Squam river.

Tradition says that in those early days the people residing in the little hamlet, gathered on the banks of the Squam river, were almost without exception manufacturing people.

Through her manufacturing establishments and finished product, Ashland has attained her present prosperity.

Tradition says that the first grist and saw mill was built by one Samuel Blair. The date cannot be ascertained, but it was during the early settlement of the then town of Holderness.

At a later date came the woollen mill by Joseph Shephard succeeded by The Briggs Bros. of Leeds, England, James, John and Joshua. This industry is still carried on here by Robert Hart.

The first paper mill in Grafton County, was built in what is now Ashland about 1814. A Mr. Pattee was proprietor. Col. Thomas P. Cheney's father worked on the mill and helped in the making of the first sheet of paper to be finished from the mill. The paper board industry is also carried on to a large extent at the present day.

About 1850 to 1861, the firm of J. H. Thompson & Co., manufactured shoes in this town.

In 1886, the hosiery mill was built. Col. Thomas P. Cheney was one of the first stock holders, and is a member of the corporation to the present day.

The manufacture of lumber has always been carried on to a certain extent, from the beginning of the settlement here and the building of the first mill until the present day.

The manufacture of the Plymouth glove was at one time carried on in this town to a small extent. Among the manufactures were the Draper-Maynard Company prior to their removal to Plymouth.

History of Holderness

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

A place where the traveler is always welcome. Here the tourist finds rest and bracing ozone. Whether you are living in the most costly palace on the shores of Lake Asquam or are sheltered by a stretch of canvas it is all the same. The pleasure is here! Did you say you liked canoeing or was it the exploring of the sylvan retreats you preferred? Here they are with all the diversities.

We take a trip on Lake Asquam with its fifty or more islands. Now you can have just which you prefer, canoe, row boat or launch, (they are all here.) Canoe it is! (It certainly does seem more in keeping with the surroundings). As we paddle over the mirrored surface we can't help thinking of those days when primitive man with his birch bark canoe was making this his thoroughfare; or perhaps was catching his daily food (bass, trout and pickerel) from the lake's clear depths.

Today we decide upon a mountain trip, never mind which one; we must climb them all; as we walk along through the sylvan retreats we fully expect to encounter some of those fairies and elves so often read about during our nursery room days; instead we come across the summer home, nestling against the mountain side, of some admirers of nature's beauties. This and much more could be written of the combined advantages furnished by the diversified surroundings of Holderness.

Well may we think, as we look at the hills inland around the town, of those times when the Indian signaled to his tribe from their summit, notifying them in their wooded fastnesses of the enemy's approach. Perhaps we no sooner think of these things of the past than our attention is turned to the present by the "chug-chug" of the motor boat or the automobile of the present pleasure seeker, or yet again by the echo of college song and popular air floating to our ears from the mountain side or opposite lake shore. Thus have the times changed and the camp and hotel, the motor boat and automobile of the tourist, have invaded where primitive man once trod.

Holderness is bounded on the north by Campton, on the east by Sandwich and Center Harbor, on the south and southwest by Center Harbor and Ashland, on the west by Plymouth.

The way to reach this retreat is by train on White Mountain Division of the Boston & Maine to Ashland thence by stage or on the Asquam Transportation Company's fine fleet of Steam and Gasoline boats to most any point on the chain of Asquam Lakes.

EARLY GRANTS AND HISTORY

"Beginning at a Red Oak Tree at the foot of the great falls in Pemigewassett River, thence Running East Six miles then turning off at right angles and Running South Six miles, then turning off again and Running Westerty Six miles To a white pine Tree marked Standing on the Bank of the river aforesaid, Then running up said River Northerly as that runs to the Bounds first above mentioned as Bounds Begun at.

And that the Same Be and hereby is Incorporated Into a Township By the Name of New Holderness.”

Thus reads the charter or Grant of Governor Bennington Wentworth, issued Oct. 24, 1761, to the following named gentlemen:

Maj. John Wentworth, Thomas Harvey, Robert Harvey, Joseph Sheperd, Joseph Baker, Nicholas Gookin, John Muckleroy, William Simpson, Sr., David Simpson, William Simpson, Jr., Joseph Simpson, Sam'l Wentworth, Esq., Murry Hambleton, Theodore Atkinson, Esq., Richard Wibird, Esq., John Downing, Esq., Mrs. Sarah Mitchell, John Kavenah and John Ennis, one-half share each, Sam'l Wentworth, Esq., Boston, Sam'l Sheperd, 3d, Edward Hall Bergin, William Curry, William Kenedy, John Bergin, Hercules Mooney, William Williams, Samuel Lamb, Charles Cox, Jr., Thomas Wille, John Sheperd, Sr., Thomas Sheperd, Charles Bamford, Joseph Ellison, Richard Ellison, William Ellison, Robert Bamford, William Smith, William Campbell, William Garrow, Henry Wallis, Rev. Arthur Brown, Henry Hill, John Sheperd, Jr., William Kelsy, Thomas Vooks, James Kelley, William Cox, Charles Cox, John Cox, Edward Cox, Joseph Cox, William Cox, Jr., Derry Pittman, Samuel Livermore, Charles Bamford, Jr., Mark H. J. Wentworth, Esq., Richard Salter and Joseph Bartlet of Newton.

It will be noticed that there were a great many family names as the Cox family, the Ellisons, Sheperds and Wentworths.

The majority of the grantees were residents of Durham, Strafford County, and in that town the first meeting of the proprietors was called by Lieut. Thomas Sheperd according to the terms of the Governor's grant (Nov. 1761).

In 1762, October 28th, at the home of Winbon Adams of Durham, the proprietors drew for lots.

Among the first things the early proprietors voted to do, was to clear roads through the town of New Holderness and to erect or have erected a saw and grist mill upon the falls in Squam river so called. (In that part of the town now Ashland.)

In 1771, as the result of a petition by Samuel Sheperd and eleven of the other voters in New Holderness to Samuel Livermore, one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, the first town meeting was held in the town of New Holderness on Wednesday the 16th of October. Samuel Sheperd was chosen town clerk; Mr. Andrew Smyth, Mr. Joseph Hicks, Mr. Charles Cox, selectmen.

Oct. 26th, 1773, it was voted to build a church 36 feet in length and 30 in width with a 10 foot post. Voted to raise thirty pounds lawful money to carry on the work. At the next meeting of the town it was voted to reconsider this action and instead, each inhabitant should pay his equal part in lumber, shingles, clapboards, labor or rum. The record does not say how much lumber would be necessary, but it states very plainly that there should be "ten gallons of Rum received at said Building at 3s. per gallon."

The price voted to allow for the lumber delivered was as follows: "boards 28s. per thousand, Clapboards 36s. per thousand and shingles 8s. per thousand."

In 1775, an effort was made to establish a public school but without success.

The first recorded action of the town in regard to the poor is as follows under date of June 11th, 1781:

"Voted to pay Mr. John Ennis five shillings per week for keeping and supporting Margaret Lyons in Decent Washing lodging, & Victualing the pay to be in specie at the old price, for three months from the time they first took her."

1788 a vote was made to "Hire a town school for the year 1788, one hundred and seventy dollars to be paid schoolmaster in produce."

Sept. 4th, 1788, "voted that Mr. Robert Fowle Be minister in said Town, Provided he Receives Episcopal Ordination."

"Voted to give Mr. Robt. Fowle Two hundred Dollars yearly as a Sallery in produce at the current price."

"Voted to Clear the first Settled Minister's lot, the Ministerial lot & Society lots of Entervail, in said Town Within The term of Two years from this date."

"Voted To Build a Parsonage house & Barn as Near to Ministers Entervail as is convenient, within the term of two years."

Six school districts were erected in the town in 1797.

Voted in 1800 that able bodied men with oxen should receive 50 cts per day on town roads.

Inventory of the town, 1810, 157 polls, only one carriage, owned by Arthur Livermore.

1812, at special town meeting the effort for a town house was defeated (Date April 20th), another special meeting Nov. 2nd, Voted to prosecute the town of Canterbury for the support of William Evans & family, Joshua Smyth chosen Agent to represent town in the proceedings.

The earliest recorded birth is that of Samuel Sheperd 4th born Feb. 3d, 1768.

The following document explains itself and is to be found on the first page of the second book of Town records:
STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixteen.

An act to Alter the Name of The Town of New Holderness to the Name of Holderness.

SAMUEL SPARHAWK, Secr'y

Thus we find recorded from time to time on the pages of those old records, transactions now merely traditions or long forgotten.

Many of the old family names may be found here today, some occupying the old homesteads built by the first of the family name.

Among the camps, summer homes and hotels found here are The Asquam House, Mt. Livermore Estate, The Central House, The Hillside Cottage, Camp Algonquin, for boys; Camp Asquam, boys camp; Sherwood Forrest, boys camp; Harvard Camp and Summer School.

Summer homes and cottages: Mr. Thomas Dunne, Newport; G. J. Brush, Prof. A. J. Du Bois, Admiral and Mrs. Brunce, Prof. Samuel Johnson, and Thomas Osborne of New Haven; Dr. Mead of Winchester; The Van Horne estate, and many others.

PLEASURE TRIPS FROM HOLDERNESS

No tourist thinks of leaving this resort without taking some of the following trips, and if possible all of them.

Among shorter trips of great interest are the mountain trips up Mt. Fayal, Mt. Livermore, Prospect Mountain, a walk up Shepard Hill, also around it on the Centre Harbor road.

Of the longer trips are the rides to Ossipee Park, to Centre Harbor, and climb the Red Hills, Around the big lake, stopping at mid day at Sandwich, etc.

The launch trips are many and very interesting, especially by moonlight.

HINTS AND HAPPENINGS AT HOLDERNESS

Tradition says John Greenleaf Whittier spent a number of summers at the Asquam House, and wrote on the piazzas of that house some of his best about the scenery of this region.

We also hear that Starr King paid tribute to the scenes around here in the music and rythm of poetry. Artist and poet have ever found inspiration in the diversities of nature surrounding the many summer homes here.

The total area of the town is sald to be about 20,000 acres. The population is estimated at over 650. The number of Polls is 201. The total valuation is $490,832. Resident real estate, $245,440. Non Resident's real estate, $140,904.

The mail during eight months of the year number one daily going and coming. For two months there are two each way, and the remaining two months, or busy summer season, 3 daily.

For the month of October, 1907, the weight of the mail handled was: 1st class, 46 lb, 7½ oz; 2nd class, 34 lb, 11 oz; 3d class, 10 lb, 13½ oz; 4th class, 9 lb, 14½ oz.

It is estimated that nearly 1500 people are benefited by the Squam Lake R. P. O. and the Holderness P. O. during the summer months.

The first gasoline launch put onto the lakes here was the Serepta, owned by Geo. E. Hibbard, of Boston, Mass., also owner of the Wabunaki Camp. The craze of modern canoeing was introduced by the Harvard Camp boys.

Holderness is reached by stage summer and winter, and boat on the lake during the summer from Ashland, the nearest station on the White Mountain Div. of the B. & M. railroad.

EDUCATIONAL

The public institutions of learning are merely those termed district schools and are only of the lower grades. The students wishing higher educational advantages go to Plymouth high school or that of some neighboring town.

The Public Library survived many hardships, but after each reverse a renewed start has been made with remarkable courage.

Miss Ellen F. Terry, later Mrs. Chas. F. Johnson whose husband is connected with Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., was one of the founders of the library movement. Miss Terry had been in the habit of spending her summers here and when she left for the season, about 1878, she gave to Miss Sarah J. Perkins a number of books to be loaned to the towns people. A little later a town library was agitated, the books were taken from the house of Miss Perkins and placed in a room over Mr. Whitten's store. A Dr. Talbot proposed to catalogue the books and a large number were given to him for that purpose. The majority of these it is said have never been returned. About this time another move was made and the books placed in the building now occupied as the Post Office.

In 1893, sometime in Sept., the present town library was organized and the books again placed over Whitten's store. During the month of Sept. 1906, when Whitten's store burned, the entire lot of books were destroyed excepting eighteen that happened to be in the hands of some of the towns people.

A new start has been made and books or donations are being received from time to time. Among those who have presented the library with books are: Mr. C. F. De Forrest, New Haven, Conn., books and magazines; Admiral Bunce, Hartford, Conn., about one hundred volumes; and recently from the Johnson family, Hartford Conn., and many smaller gifts of which we could obtain no record as all the earlier records of the institution were in the fire of 1906.

Miss Sarah J. Perkins has been librarian in continuous service since the first start was made and to her we are indebted for the most of this information.

MILITARY AFFAIRS

New Holderness took a more or less important part in the early military history of the Provinces or early settlements, and during the Revolution we find a number of her citizens were away to the war. We are sorry to be unable to give the complete list of enrollments, but we find the following names active in military affairs of that time.

Samuel Gains, John Riant, John Tyler, John Whitten, John Taylor, James Robinson, Jared Church, (res. Camp-ton), John Whittier, William Hamlet, Samuel Cammell, Hercules Mooney and some of the Shepard family. We also find that William Lyons received pay for supplies valued at 8£ 13s.

Holderness' Civil War enlistments appear under the head of Military Matters in the Ashland historical section.

SOCIETIES

The only secret order in the town is the branch of Patrons of Husbandry, Mt. Livermore Grange. It has a large membership, considering the size of the town, and has had a prosperous career.

CHURCH HISORY.

Episcopal—It is supposed that the story of this organization must begin coincident to that action taken by the town in 1788 when it was voted that Robert Fowle be the town minister provided he receive Episcopal ordination.

Various efforts were made to found and build a church prior to this date, but they all proved fruitless.

In 1797 the present church, now located at the Holderness School, was built, and in 1803 a second was built near Squam Bridge, in the corner of the present grave yard, but was later burned.

Tradition says that Robert Fowle, a young man in Mr. Bass's parish at Newburyport, came to be a member of the Livermore household some time before 1789, probably as tutor for Judge Livermore's son, (later Mr. Bass was noted as Bishop for these parts).

The parsonage for Priest Fowle, as he was called, was built on the site of the present Central House, as this was the ministers' lot. It is probably because of the distance from here to where the first church is located, that the second church was built where it was at the Squam Bridge. Priest Fowle was the pastor of the church for fifty-eight years.

Tradition says that the first church was the property of the Livermores. The services had been held for some time in a large room of the big house.

When the church building was erected the various worshippers made their donations. The land whereon the church is built was never deeded to Trinity Church.

Besides this church at the Holderness School there are the two chapels where, during the summer, services are held, namely, St. Peters on the Mount, and the Island Chapel.

Baptist Church, or Squam Bridge Church, was organized in 1894, the 20th day of Nov., with 27 charter members. This was the result of the revival services held by Rev. R. F. True and Benj. Ward. The first meetings were held in the Town Hall.

The corner stone of the church building was laid Sept. 24, 1896, and in Dec., 1898, 22d day, the first services were held in the vestry. The auditorium was not ready for occupancy until Aug. 13, 1903.

Those acting as pastors have been: Rev. R. F. True, Rev. J. Erskene, J. L. Monroe, F. D. George, J. F. Babb, E. C. E. Dorion, A. E. Draper, Newall Avery, and N. B. Sanborn.

History of Campton

DESCRIPTION

Campton, lying as it does on the beautiful Pemigewassett, is a township of pleasant associations. It is bounded on the north by Thornton, east by Sandwich, South by Holderness, west by Rumney.

The Pemigewassett Valley branch of the Boston & Maine railroad connects it with Plymouth, giving excellent train service.

The Campton Mountains, Morgan Mountains, Beech Hill, Round Hill and Stinson Mountains are points of observation and the focal point for numerous picnic parties by Campton's summer guests, for Campton like her sister towns keeps open house to the weary toiler of the bustling city, seeking rest and recreation.

Livermore Falls on the Pemigewassett, a beautiful spot, beside offering endless attractions in the glorious vista of its surroundings also furnishes considerable water power.

The soil of Campton furnishes excellent opportunities for agriculture, especially in the intervale lots, as they were designated in the early grants.

EARLY SETTLEMENT

The town was originally granted to Gen. Jabez Spencer of East Haddam, Conn., in 1761. His death caused a delay in the settlement of the grant. The heirs and others interested received a new charter in 1767. The majority of early settlers to this region came from the State of Connecticut and State of Massachusetts in the vicinity of the Connecticut and Merrimack Rivers.

Probably the first comers to this town were Isaac Fox and Winthrop Fox from Connecticut during the spring of 1762. The following spring came the wife of Isaac Fox, his son Isaac and Mr. Enoch Taylor. Isaac Fox, Sr., is supposed to have settled on the east side of the river, near where the bridge now stands. Isaac Fox, Jr., settled near, on the opposite side and Mr. Taylor some two miles above on the west side.

Among others who took a part in the early affairs of the settlement are found the names of Gen. Spencer's two sons, Hobart Spencer who settled upon the Pemigewassett and Joseph upon Beebe's River, also we find the name of Abel Willey who came with the Spencers, he being only seventeen years of age, to work upon the tract bought jointly by his mother and sisters. Benjamin Hoit, Jesse Willey, Ebenezer Taylor, Asa Spencer, Israel Brainard and Chiliab Brainard were also early arrivals from Connecticut.

From the Province of Mass., we find the name of Elder Ebenezer Little of Newburyport, as encouraging the settlement and was a large proprietor, his son Moses came and built mills and opened a store as early as 1768. David Perkins is also found to be prominent in affairs for a time, but later moved to Thoruton. Daniel Wyatt from Newburyport came to the place as early as 1769, and became the Miller of the town walking over a mile from his home above Little's to the mill. He was as regular at his post as the return of day. Many of those early settlers had cause to be thankful to Deacon Wyatt for his words of encouragement, suggestion or reprimand and solemn appeal all delivered in his kind heart to heart method. Other early names are Joseph Pulsifer, Jonathan Cone, Nathaniel Tupper, Joseph Palmer.

The hardships of these early pioneers were similar to those endured by all early settlers. The Indians with the drawbacks of the wilderness such as the poor means of communication and travel, arduous horse back trips or in winter by hand sled and snow shoe, these were the only means of obtaining the necessary household articles from the older settlements.

If we could have looked down upon this territory during those early days we would have seen mere pigmies of men wrestling with the giants of the forest. At night we would have seen from neighboring clearings the smoke and flame of the funeral pile of these depleted giants. Perhaps today we are inclined, very naturally too, to little realize what the difficulties of those early days meant and to underestimate all that had to be contended with during those early struggles for a home.

CHURCH HISTORY

Hand in hand with her early interest in education was the interest displayed in religious training and divine worship.

The Congregational Church was organized June 2, 1774. As was the custom the church was supported by the town for a number of years, and in 1779 the town made an agreement with Joseph Pulsifer to use his house as a house of worship. The house was purchased and renovated and later, (1791), moved to the brow of the hill near, and a little south of the place where the road descends to cross the river. In 1796 the town voted to build another church across the river but the next year reconsidered the vote and made the original action void.

For many years meetings were held on both sides of the river. Every third Sabbath on the west side, for a time at least at the house of Mr. Samuel Cook; thus a portion of the people on the west side of the town began to attend services in Plymouth, and many of the families continue to do so at the present day.

Oct. 20, 1874, the organization celebrated its centennial
List of pastors is as follows:

Seldon Church, 1774-91; Peletiah Chapin, 1800-05; Daniel Staniford, 1806-7; Dr. Kitridge, 1810-11; John Webber, 1812-15; A. P. Brown, 1817-22; Jonathan L. Hale, 1823-32; Benjamin P. Stone, 1833-37; Thomas P. Beach, 1838-41; Charles Shedd, 1841-56; James B. Hadley, 1858-63; Quincy Blakeley, 1864-88; Henry W. Conry, 1889-91; Robert Ford, 1893-1903; Thomas S. Lewis, 1904-7.

Twelve members of the church have become ministers: Isaac Willey, Christopher Marsh, George Elliott, Daniel Pulsifer, Leonard Rogers, John Wooster, John Clark, Austin Willey, Worcester Willey, Samuel Hopkins Willey, Edwin H. Stickney, Irving Blakely Jr.

The church is represented by one foreign missionary, Miss Ellen M. Blakely of Marash, Turkey.

Present membership 40, twelve male and twenty-eight female. Sunday School of 35. No Christian Endeavor.

Campton Free Baptist Chapel was built in 1892, and church organized in 1894, Rev. Roy Dinsmore pastor at the time. The Chapel was built by the aid and generous gifts of the summer visitors. The memorial windows and tablets were given by various of them. The bell and communion set were presented by Gardner Cork of Laconia, a former resident. The pastors have been: George Salley, Stephen Miller, William S. Coleman, G. S. Waterman, and Mrs. Dr. Avery. Rev. A. S. Buzzell is preaching at present but is the regular pastor at Campton Village.

EDUCATIONAL

As in most early towns, after locating a mill for furnishing the necessary food and building material, the matter of religious services and book learning were agitated. Like the religious services the most of the early educational training was given at the hearthstone by the watchful parents or in groups gathered at the home of one of the better educated neighbors.

The first school was taught at the home of Col. Baker, by a Mr. Rawson of Conn. about the year 1780. Campton has always been very careful of the early education of her young people, and today her school houses and methods of training are among the best.

An early movement was made for a social library. Dr. Belknap, Dr. Emmons, Rev. Mr. Church were instrumental in pushing along its development. It has had many spasmodic careers during the time since its starting.

MILITARY AFFAIRS

Campton in its early life was patriotic almost to a man, yet like most other towns there were those of tory sentiment who were opposed to the apparent foolishness of their neighbors in open acts of rebellion against their sovereign and king.

Campton furnished ten soldiers to the Revolutionary War and five are reported to have died in the service; their names so far as we have them are: John Cannon, John Mayloy, Jeremiah Archibald, Silas Fox, Uriah Fox, Asa Spencer, Edward Taylor and Oliver Taylor.

The Civil War Roll of Honor is a large one and one that the sons and daughters of the town should consider with pride and reverence, and whose memory should be honored with deep and lasting honor. Among the names found as enlisted from Campton are:

John Chandler, William Alexander, Walter S. Johnson, Hiram Berry, Charles E. Berry, Heber L. Chase, Wm. W. Farmer, Benjamin A. Ham, Frank E. Hodgman, Richard Pattee, Geo. L. Rogers, Reuben P. Smith, Jason Webster, Benjamin F. Berry, Luther Farmer, Oliver W. Lovett, Daniel M. Sanborn, John S. Avery, Leonard P. Benton, Daniel Piper, Luther S. Mitchell, Martin V. B. Avery, Edwin Avery, Ezra B. Burbank, Rufus F. Bickford, Orlando Durgin, C. C. Durgin, Geo. W. Gordon, D. F. A. Goss, N. Lyman Merrill, Albert Merrill, John N. Marsh, Edwin Pronk, William H. Enlisted in Other States

John M. Flint, surgeon; Geo. Cook, Steven Brown, Danford M. Rowe, Harris B. Mitchell, Hermon C. Stickney, John C. Chase, Alfred Merrill, Geo. H. Keniston, Geo. Smith, Clark Smith, Simeon D. Smith.

DOCTORS OF THE TOWN

Before any regular physician settled here Doctors Rogers and Robins of Plymouth and Nichols of Thornton practiced here. Jeduthan Clough of Canterbury was the first doctor in the place, coming here about 1802. Following him came Dr. Angier, Dr. Robert Morrison, Dr. John Kimball, Dr. W. A. Smith, Dr. W. R. Garland, Dr. J. D. Lance, Dr. A. D. Muchmore, and present physician, Dr. H. A. Cheney, native of Ashland and son of Col. Thomas P. Cheney.

FACTS OF INTEREST

The Clergyman of Campton—responded to by Rev. Daniel Pulsifer.

The Common Schools of Campton—William C. Blair, Esq., Laconia.

Sunday Schools of Campton—Rev. Walter Chase, Woodstock.

“How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood.”
Rev. French Smith Thornton.

The Emigrant Sons & Daughters of Campton—Davis Baker, Washington, D. C.

The Soldiers of the Union—Henry W. Blair, Esq., Plymouth.

ORIGINAL HYMN

O God, to Thee our voices raise,
The song of glory and of praise,
Our fathers worshipped at Thy throne,
Their children bow to Thee alone.

We thank Thee for Thy goodness shown
In former years, which long have flown,
In name of those who gave us birth
We thank the Lord of Heaven and earth.

Thy heart, so kind in days of yore
Still gives, as freely as before,
Where'er we live, where'er we roam
Thy hand protects our native home.

God of our Fathers, now to Thee,
Let all the praise and glory be,

In Thee, we've found all good before,
In Thee, we'll trust forever more.

SONG

[Composed by E. Prank, Sept. 12, 1867]

This town was all a forest deep,
One hundred years ago,
The vales were low, the hills were steep,
And rivers wandered through.
A few brave men, a pilgrim band,
Sought this far-off location,—
They saw it was a goodly land,
And here they fixed their station.
From time to time more settlers came,
And many a spot was camped on;
At length the town must have a name,
And so they called it Campton.
Now wake the harp and time the lyre
To sing of ancient days,
This rural theme the song inspire;
To sound old Campton's praise.
In homespun were the people dressed,
Of woolen, tow or linen,
Their Sunday suits, which were the best,
Were neatly made by women.
And women then could wash and bake,
And also were good spinners,
The maids could ply the hoe and rake,
While matrons cooked the dinner.
Our fathers raised a house of Prayer,
When few there were to build it,
And every Sabbath, foul or fair,

The people nobly filled it.
To meeting went, both young and old,
'Twas then but little trouble,
For none would keep a horse, we're told,
That would not carry double.

So all on horseback then did ride,
Unless they went by sledding,
And e'en the bridegroom and the bride,
Rode double to the wedding.

And though the girls, we're told 'tis true,
Could not then dance cotillions,
We know that all the country through
They used to ride on pillions.

And now the times, we say, improve,
And learning is more plenty,
At railroad pace the people move,
And when they're five and twenty,
They've gone the rounds of learned lore,
Are fit for any station,
They quickly pass, are seen no more,
And thus goes on the nation.

This season be a land mark strong,
To guide us on our way,
And as we pass through life along,
Let us not go astray.

To good old days we'll bid adieu,
And so we'll travel on,
We'll wish for all, good hearts and true,
And now wind up our song.

History of Center Harbor

DESCRIPTIVE

The township lying as it does, not only on the shores of Lake Asquam but upon the shores of Lake Winnepesaukee, making a diversity of advantages hard to be found in the offerings of any other town to its host of summer visitors. The village is on the extreme northwest shore of the latter body of water, upon the crest of a commanding green mountain side, overlooking the broad expanse of Lake Winnepesaukee, "Smile of The Great Spirit," with a range of mountains looming up in the distance. The natural beauties and a magnificent harbor from which is derived its name, are its principal attractions as a summer resort. The channels are deep, the shores are fringed on every side with the richest foliage, its waters are sparkling and pure. In close proximity are many islands, all along shore are camps and cottages of the scores who have made this inland lake retreat their summer home.

No screech of a locomotive was ever heard at Centre Harbor. No offensive odors from bog or marsh taint the air. The steamers on the lakes and the old fashioned stage coach, swinging from its cradle of leather, are the means of public conveyance at the "harbor."

The drives and walks from Centre Harbor are many in number. A short drive or walk from the village brings one to the far-famed "Whittier Pine." Red Hill is an adjacent peak whose summit is about 2,100 feet above the tide water and commands a fascinating view of the surrounding landscape with a horizon of at least 200 miles. This is a great retreat for picnic parties from both lakes.

There is every sort of an accommodation for the summer visitor, from the stately hotel to the small camp, and delightful farm house. The fame of Centre Harbor has spread to regions remote from its own hospitable hearthstone, for those who have visited here have become enamored of its many attractions and natural beauties, and the surrounding vistas are worth the journey of many a mile to see.

EARLY HISTORY

Let us picture for a moment the pleasure these forerunners of the coming civilization must have felt as they stood upon the brow of one of the neighboring hills, perhaps at early morning to map the journey for the day, there being no spotted trees or blazed trail. Behold, lying unrolled before them is their future home, radiant in the rays of the rising sun, and their long and tiresome journey is finished.

The quiet of the wilderness is unbroken save for the awakened throng of feathered songsters. These same forests knowing not the devastating hand of human progress, their silence only broken by the occasional fall of some aged monarch, worn out by the struggle against the season's storms or withered by the lightning's stroke, must soon be sacrificed before the altar of the onward approaching civilization.

Yet again as we look the scene is changed. It is evening. The fast receding sun is disappearing behind the mountains in the west. A band of tired and travel worn men stand looking at the fast vanishing outlines of a grand and picturesque landscape. Their eyes behold for the first time the mecca of their journey. Unrolled before them is the panorama of their future home, made beautiful by the golden rays of the setting sun. These wooded hills and valleys undisturbed, save for the prowlings of primitive man and denizen of the forest, in their search for daily bread, are soon to yield their secrets to them, the forerunners of a sturdy and thrifty race of home builders.

We can hardly realize the thoughts and feelings of these sturdy and sun browned pioneers, as they almost embrace one another in their ecstasies of delight, at this the pleasing conclusion of their long and tedious journey, yet only the beginning of still greater hardships in subduing the forest primeval.

Here we must draw the curtain, for what now transpires we of the present generation would little understand, their haste to seek repose that the early coming of another day may see them on their new domain, they do not forget there and then to bow down 'neath the fast appearing stars of the heavens, "The forgetmenots of the angels," and give thanks to the God of their Fathers for the hand which guided over the unblazed trail.

For a story of those earlier days, the struggles made and hardships endured, we find it necessary to refer to tradition.

Among the earliest families we find the names of Old Sam Senter, for whom the town was named; Moultons, Coes, the family names of Norris, Clark, Edgerly, Cram, Hawkins, Huckins and many others all staunch and true.

Of those very earliest days very little can be told for even tradition is quiet on the subject. The earliest settlers seem to have had their principal trouble with the animals found roaming in the wilds about their home.

This story will easily show the seriousness of the situation, and it for us has its humorous side.

One of the early matrons with her baby of perhaps two or three years, was on the edge of her home clearing, hanging out the family wash on the convenient bushes as was the custom. When she had finished the task, she turned to pick up her baby and great was her surprise to see lying side by side, the baby and a nearly grown cub bear both soundly sleeping. The frightened mother snatched up the baby and screaming started for the log cabin. The bear, startled by the sudden awakening loped away into the bushes.

It is interesting to show the value placed upon the land by the early settlers. For example, there is a story told locally of how, what was New Hampton Gore, now a part of Centre Harbor, was given to a man because he very thoughtfully presented to the Governor a good fat ox. This strip includes farms worth today several thousand dollars.

The first saw mill and only one in the town was built by Jacob Hawkins. In what year is not known. There was no grist mill.

The first carriage or wheeled conveyance of any elegance was purchased by Wadley Cram about 70 years ago. The body rested, as does the cart body today, on the axle. This was considered to be a wonderfully comfortable way of travelling.

They say that in doing their spring plowing with the old wooden plow, the early settlers thought nothing of taking the cows and heifers from the pasture and yokeing them up for the work.

An interesting story is told of one Samuel Jones, son of Ezekiel Jones, at the time of the first train going through Meredith. It seems that Sammy was the town's laughing stock because of his apparent lacking of brain cells. As the train pulled into Meredith, Sam with the other curious citizens of Centre Harbor was on hand to welcome it with open mouthed wonder. Now Sammy was not content to stand and look at this "boiling teakettle," but he must walk all around it, taking it in from all sides. One survey was not enough, but every trip to Meredith meant for Sammy a new survey of the iron monster, and on his return home a disappearance and seeking of seclusion unaccountable. After a few months of this, greatly to the surprise of everyone, master Sammy appeared with a miniature train of cars complete almost to every detail. When Samuel became of age he started for Laconia with his train of cars under his arm.

He was given a position in the car works there and soon advanced rapidly.

The physicians of the town have been Dr. Page and his son, and Dr. Morrill.

We were unable to secure the data in regard to the churches of the town. No regular and continuous services for any length of time have been held. There is a house of worship at the village and one known as the Hawkins meeting house in the western part of the town.

The school system is that of the common graded schools.

EARLY PETITIONS AND DOCUMENTS

The settlers living in this part of what was then New Holderness, Meredith and New Hampton, because of the great distance from the centre of the town affairs of their respective towns, the exceedingly hard and difficult traveling to town meetings and church services which the early settler conscientiously attended, petitioned the General Court of New Hampshire, by a petition signed by the leading men of the section in question, to incorporate said section in a town to be called Watertown.

The section under consideration was bounded as follows:

“Beginning at Col. Smith’s Mill (so called), in Meredith aforesaid, thence by west side Measley Pond (so called), to the mouth of the Brook running into said pond, from thence on a direct course to Ramsey's Mill (so called), in New Holderness aforesaid; from thence over Squam Pond (so called), to northwest corner of Red Hill (so called), and thence to the bound first mentioned."

A committee of three in the House took the matter under consideration Jan'y. 1, 1789. The personel of the committee was as follows: Hon. Joseph Badger, Esq., Daniel Beede, Esq., and Capt. Abraham Burnham.

Their report was unfavorable, "Because," as they said, "While there is justice in the plea of distance and other hardships, the detaching of these sections would so weaken the towns in question that they would be unable to support churches and other public institutions."

For nearly ten years this movement for a new town, here among the Hills and Lakes, lay dormant, apparently. On June 8, 1797, a new petition, signed by many of the old petitioners as well as others, and sanctioned by the town of New Hampton at a legal town meeting, was granted by the General Court, thereby establishing the town of Centre Harbor. Bounded as follows:

"Beginning at northwesterly corner New Hampton, thence on line between Meredith and New Hampton to Measley Pond (so called,) thence to Measley Pond Brook, thence up middle said Brook to Long Pond, thence up middle Long Pond to inlet at Head of said Pond, thence north 35° west to New Holderness, thence east on said Holderness line to the southeast corner of said Holderness, thence north on said Holderness line to westerly corner of Moultonboro, thence on line between Moultonboro and New Hampton to bound first mentioned."

Later, July 3, 1873, a small portion of Meredith was added to the town of Centre Harbor.

There are of course many reasons given why the name of "Centre Harbor" was adopted by the new town. One being that it was out of respect and as an honor to one of the earliest settlers in this section, Judge Senter, who came here about 1767. Another, and we believe the authentic reason, was because of the situation of the new town, midway between the harbors of Moultonboro and Meredith (so called), on Lake Winnepesaukee, made it by natural conditions the "Centre Harbor."

MILITARY ACCOUNT

The earliest history of this town in military affairs belongs to and is a part of the history of her sister towns.

We find among those who took an active part in the war that shook the institutions of our American nation and abolished forever the traffic in human souls from this soil of freedom, many who claimed the town of Centre Harbor as their home. Many of these enlisted from other towns. We give here those men credited to the contingent furnished by the town of Center Harbor, namely

History of Sandwich

DESCRIPTION

Sandwich, in the western part of Carroll County, embraces the northern part of Lake Asquam, although the village of Centre Sandwich is two and one-half miles from the lake shore. The township is bounded by the following towns: Waterville on the north, Tamworth on the east, Moultonboro on the south, Holderness and Campton on the west.

Like the neighboring towns the principle business of the people during the summer months is to entertain the summer vacationists. Mountain climbing and drives through the mountain region are the principle features in the way of a diversion. The most noted peaks found in town are: Black Mountain, Israel Mountain, Sandwich Mountain, Peaked Hill, Bald Knob on the northern boundary line, and Young Mountain.

In the way of drives there are a number of trips easily taken. The drive around Lake Squam, over to Ossipee Mountain Park, from Centre Sandwich to Sandwich Notch, and a visit to Beede's Falls are highly recommended, as are many others of various lengths.

The summer tourist reaches Sandwich in a somewhat round-about way, either by the boat Mount Washington to Centre Harbor, from the railway stations on Lake Winnepesaukee and thence by stage, or up Lake Squam from Ashland by boat and thence to the village by team. Either method is a very round-about way but the scenery on the trip is worth the trouble.

THE TOWN

The original charter dated Oct. 25, 1763, is similar to that of the other charters granted by Benning Wentworth, and contained the usual grant of six miles square or 23,040 acres. On the survey of the original grant it was found that "The Northerly & Westerly sides there of [are] so loaded with inaccessible Mountains & Shelves of Rocks that it is uninhabitable," and the grantees petitioned for an "additional Grant of a strip of his Majesty's Land on the south and on the east of the aforesaid Tract." This addition was made Sept. 5, 1764, making a total area of 64,000 acres.

Among the earliest settlers we find the names of Nathaniel Folsom, Nicholas Gilman, Daniel Beede, Samuel Folsom, Enoch Poor and others. Because of the inducements given by the proprietors and the comparative ease (for those days) of getting to market, the town fast became well settled, and remained for some time one of the principle towns of Carroll County.

The town has ever had a deep interest in the religious and educational sides of life. The people, God fearing and well educated, have ever taken a prominent part in the world's work.

Although the town is apparently isolated it has many things in the way of natural advantages to compensate for its distance from railway facilities. It lies on the border of as wild a country as New Hampshire affords, while skirting its northern boundary is that chain of massive mountains, the Sandwich range. From these, and also from the lesser hills, a diversity of vistas are unfurled to greet the visitor's eye, at once pleasing and startling. That pearl of unsurpassed beauty, the Squam Lakes, lie nestled almost at the feet of the green clad hills. And in the middle distance glimmers the silvery surface of Lake Winnepesaukee, intervening and surrounding these, rise tier upon tier, pinnacle after pinnacle of hill and mountains, beautiful to the superlative degree, sheltering the many fertile valleys and the well tilled farms of the town.

Although many of her children leave home to become prominent in the various occupations of life in the business world, as writers in science and medicine, in law and the pulpit; some compensation for this loss is derived from the arrival annually of hundreds of people, wearied by those same struggles and activities, to recuperate in the quietude and beauties of this inland town.

Industries—No mill whistle or bell calls the people of this town to their daily toil. It is now as in the earlier days, the principal mechanical industries are the saw mill and grist mill, although at one time (for a short time only), the manufacture of clothing and boots and shoes was carried on quite extensively in town. Brick making and tanning were also undertaken at various times.

Educational—From the earliest days the people of Sandwich have been interested in literature and the cause of education. The common school system is of the best and they are well graded.

Sandwich Academy, chartered about 1824. The first school held about 1837, with Charles Cochrane, instructor. The last term was held in 1850, and in 1852 the building was sold and torn down.

Sandwich Library Association—In 1800, the Legislature incorporated the “Sandwich and Moultonborough Social Library. In 1810, as the field was too broad, the “Sandwich Social Library” was incorporated. In 1882, the “Sandwich Library Association was formed at Centre Sandwich with many of the books of the Social Library. In 1888, on May 10, it was made an incorporate body. A large number of books and magazines are now found on its shelves in the building which serves as its home near the Post Office and nearly opposite the Sandwich House.

PROFESSIONAL MEN

Physicians—Asa Crosby, Lot Cook, Moses Hoyt, Charles White, Andrew J. McFarland, James Norris, Dr. Shannon, Thomas J. Sweatt, Rev. William Herves, George Sanborn, Tristram Sanborn, Dr. Ingalls, Dr. Emerson, John Blackmer, Joseph Huntress, Dr. Geary, J. A. Presby, F. S. Lovering, Enoch Q. Marston, Ervin Wilbur Hodsdon, Aaron M. Howe, Rev. Harrison N. Hart, Simeon D. Buzzell, William

A. Page, Mr. Moody, Wilbur Fiske Sanborn, A. H. Harriman, Horace J. Binford, George N. French, A. B. Hoag, F.
E. Bryar.

Dentist—Samuel Beede Wiggin.

SCRAPS SECURED AT SANDWICH

Centre Sandwich Post Office—Stage leaves for West

Secret societies of the town are Mt. Israel Grange, No.
158, membership 100; Red Mountain Lodge, A. F. & A. M.,
No. 68, membership 50.

Population of the town about 1,075.

First birth recorded April 29, 1769, Hunken Hilton, son of Jen Hilton and Abigail, his wife.

First saw mill and grist mill said to have been built and run by one Col. Beede.

Mt. Israel named for Israel Gilman, one of the first settlers and Great-grandfather of Algernon S. A. Gilman, now living in town.

Farming and entertaining summer tourists, principal sources of revenue.

EARLY TOWN MEETINGS

1772—Met at Daniel Beede's June 29. Proprietors had neglected to keep up their town government and town had lost its officers: Ebenezer Smith, Esq., moderator; Daniel Beede, Esq., clerk; Elias Ladd, Moses Weed, Daniel Beede, Esq., selectmen.

1781—Voted no ox sled shall pass on the public road in the snow path being narrower than five feet from outside to outside of said sled sides on penalty of twelve shillings to be recovered by complaint before any justice of the peace, etc.

1789—Voted to have no town school.

1790—First recorded vote for Congressmen, Hon. Samuel Livermore, Esq., Hon. Nicholas Gilman, Esq., and Hon. Abiel Foster, Esq., received the majority.

1792—First record of town meeting being held other than at the house of Daniel Beede. Meeting called for "meeting house."

1798—Voted $30 be drawn from town treasury to open a road to Burton, "stopped by hurricane."

1802—Pound built near large meeting house.

1806—Town work house established at home of Nathaniel Weed; Mr. Weed made work master.

1817-18—Strong temperance movements made by town.

1820—Voted that swine be not permitted to run at large after Nov. first.

1824—First town farm in the state established at Sandwich this year.

1841—By-Laws adopted providing for suitable clothing for poor in care of town to attend public worship; punishing persons who run horses through streets, use profane or obscene language, disturb religious or moral assemblies or town meetings; prohibiting the sale or gift of liquor within one mile of any town meeting; prohibiting the running at large of cattle within half a mile of any meeting house, town house, tavern, store or grist mill; for the annual appointment of seven or nine police officers.

1847—Voted to build town house at expense of $500, to be located at Skinner Corner.

EARLY CHURCH HISTORY

Elder Jewell was the first settled minister at Sandwich, coming here prior to 1776, preaching the stern faith and doctrines of Calvin. The Calvinistic Baptists built a church about 1780, or a little earlier. This must have been a very crude affair as in 1802, it had served its purpose and a new meeting house had been erected, occupying the site of the present Freewill Baptist church at the Centre. This building was built by the people and was occupied by the Baptists and Methodists alternately.

Freewill Baptist Church—September 21, 1803, application for fellowship and union was made to New Durham Quarterly Meeting and was accepted the same day. This started the Freewill Baptist Church of Sandwich with Joseph Quimby, pastor.

The North Sandwich Free Baptist Church was the original first church of this denomination in town. After the division in 1839, when Mr. Jewell left the pastorate of the churches here, Rev. Dudley Pettengill then ministered to the church. Many repairs were made on the church about 1876-80.

Methodism came to Sandwich early in the century, about 1800 probably and perhaps earlier. A Mrs. Winslow it is said was the first member and Jedediah Skinner the second. The organization commenced work April, 1825, on a house of worship which was finished the same year.

At North Sandwich the Methodists and Congregationalists built a church edifice of brick which was used alternately by the two denominations.

The first church built by the Methodists was used for about twenty-five years and was then devastated by flames.

The present edifice was then built in 1848, on land given by Hon. Moulton H. Marston.

The Congregational Church—Until 1814, the people of this faith attended worship either at Tamworth or Moultonboro. For the first few years the services were conducted by the pastors of these churches gratuitously. Aug. 17, 1814, there were thirteen members on the church records. Rev. Mr. Taylor and Rev. Mr. Cogswell were here for short periods at that time.

After an up hill battle a house of worship was built and dedicated on the 30th of November, 1825, Mr. David P. Smith serving as first pastor.

North Sandwich Congregational Church organized June

27, 1832. Prior to this, for many years those of this faith attended Divine worship at Tamworth. At this organization there were fifteen members enrolled. In 1833, they united with the First Church at the Centre in securing the labors of Rev. Giles Leach and his were the last regular services they had.

East Sandwich—In 1878, a chapel was built here called Union Chapel, and here the people of different faiths met and worshiped.

The Friends—As early as 1777, there must have been about forty members, while in 1802, they had become so numerous, that the Salem Quarterly Meeting in Massachusetts reconized it as one of its branches, and established it as the Sandwich Monthly Meeting.

At the Centre we find these names among those prominent in the affairs of the society; Hoag, Béede, Varney, Hoit, Marston, Heard, Hill, Marston, Dow, Bean, Plumer, Hanson, Tuttle and many others.

At North Sandwich they were fully as strong, but were organized later, and built a building for their worship.

Others from the town fought in the contingents furnished by other towns, etc.

History of Moultonboro

DESCRIPTION

Moultonboro lies on the north side of Lake Winnepesaukee, is bounded by Sandwich, Tamworth and Ossipee on the north; easterly by Ossipee and Tuftonboro; southerly by Lake Winnepesaukee and Tuftonboro; westerly by Centre Harbor and Squam Lake.

Besides being well patronized as a resort for summer visitors the guests of neighboring towns seldom fail to make a visit to Moultonboro's many attractions in the way of mountain trips, etc. One of the principal points of attraction is Ossipee Park, and a climb up Ossipee Mountain.

Ossipee Park was purchased in 1879 by B. F. Shaw Esq., then only a tract of land in the Lee settlement, now, through the efforts of Landscape artists and the expenditure of large sums of money, it has become the mecca for hundreds of coaching parties from miles around. On the side of the mountain nestles his beautiful residence, approached by cool and shady drives and walks.

A comfortable path leads you to the cascade and rustic bridges cross the brook in many places. The climb to Ossipee Mountain makes the trip to the park complete, from this vantage point one of the best views to be obtained in the state is found. In the magnificent view from this peak, three thousand feet above the sea, may be noticed Casco Bay, Portland, Saco and other points in Maine; the White Mountains, Kearsarge, Whiteface, the Sandwich range and Ossipee and Winnepesaukee Lakes. The name of the highest pinnacle of this Ossipee Mountain which lies mostly in Moultonboro, was by a vote of the town in 1882 changed from "Black Snout," as it was formerly called, to "Mount Shaw," in honor of B. F. Shaw Esq., of Lowell, Mass., inventor of the famous "Shaw-knit" machine.

The principal bodies of water are Long Pond and Little Winnepesaukee Pond. Long Pond is about two miles long and half a mile broad. At its mouth, about a mile from the Village of Centre Harbor, is an excellent water power. Little Winnepesaukee is a beautiful sheet of water near Moultonboro Corner, containing about 200 acres. Many kinds of fish abound here, and in the hunting season it is a popular place with the sportsmen.

Many Indian Relics and signs of their occupancy are found near the ponds and streams. Indian cellars are found about eight feet square and carefully stoned. In 1817 a gigantic skeleton measuring seven feet was found near Tuf-tonboro line.

GENERAL ACCOUNT

In 1760 a few men living at Hampton united for the purpose of "taking up a township" in some part of New Hampshire. Many reports of this territory had reached them and a survey was ordered. Oct. 16, 1761, an organization was completed by electing Capt. Ephraim Moulton, chairman; John Moulton, clerk and treasurer. A tax of six pounds was imposed to defray expense of survey.

The section surveyed contained thirty-six square miles. Because of the "badness" of the territory the Masonian Proprietors gave an additional grant, including a part of now Centre Harbor and Meredith.

The final grant was made Nov. 17, 1763, for the purpose of promoting the settlement of the country to Jonathan Moulton Esq., and sixty-two associates.

Settlement was begun at an early date, and in 1764, Sept. 18, it was voted to pay to any one building a saw mill £1,000. Dec. 2, 1765, voted to Jonathan Moulton ninety pounds for building a saw and grist mill on Red Hill river.

The town of Moultonboro was incorporated Nov. 24, 1777, and named in honor of Col. Jonathan Moulton. The first town meeting was held March 31, 1778.

Disputes long and fierce arose between Moultonboro, Sandwich and Tamworth, in regard to boundary line. These were fostered by Jonathan Moulton for personal gain. A committee consisting of John Langdon, Joshua Wentworth, and Benjamin Chadbourne, appointed Feb. 22, 1785, fixed the boundary lines permanently.

Among the names of the early settlers we find those of Col. Hoit, John Marston, the Richardson family, headed by Col. Bradbury Richardson; Joseph, Joseph Jr., Josiah and Reuben Smith; David Lee, first owner of Lee's Mills, so called; James Evans and six sons, among them being James, Smith B, Alvah C., and Daniel B.; Benjamin Sturtevant and others.

From the earliest the town was strictly a farming section. Since the discovery of gold in the west, through the call of the manufacturing cities and the life and bustle of the metropolis, the homestead and farm have been seriously neglected by the younger generations. What was a happy Acadian life is now only tradition.

CHURCH HISTORY

A meeting house was built at East Moultonboro in 1773 and did service until blown down by a severe gale in 1819. Another was soon erected.

March 12, 1777, at annual town meeting, a Congregational church covenant was presented and signed by a large number of the prominent town's people. A Rev. Samuel Perley seems to have set himself up as the chosen pastor of this flock, causing some of the leaders to petition the Honorable Council and House of Representatives to act in the matter, with the result that Perley left soon after. Rev. Jeremiah Shaw was then given a call, Sept. 27, 1779, which was accepted Oct. 9, 1779. Mr. Shaw preached here until 1825, and lived here until his death, 1834.

About 1840 the meetings were held at Moultonboro

Corner, in the town house. Later came the erection of a church at the Corner, the services then being held alternately at the two places, East Moultonboro and the Corner, this finally broke up the organization, causing a separation into two factions, and finally the death of both.

The Methodist Church, organized in 1840, has had these pastors: 1843, H. Hartwell; 1844, H. Hill Jr.; 1845, supplied; 1846, John Smith 2d; 1847-8, Jonathan G. Johnson; 1849-50, D. W. Barber; 1851-52, J. W. Spencer; 1853, supplied; 1854-55, J. W. Gurnsey; 1856-57, J. B. Holman; 1858, L. Draper; 1859-60, H. Chandler; 1861-62, A. C. Hardy; 1863, C. R. Homan; 1864, J. Currier; 1865, A. J. Church; 1866, A. P. Hatch; 1867, H. A. Mattison; 1868, H. S. Ward; 1869, J. E. Robbins; 1870, N. P. Philbrook; 1871, L. L. Eastman; 1872, H. Chandler; 1873-74, A. Adams; 1875-76, supplied; 1877-79, S. J. Robinson; 1880, J. H. Knott; 1881, G. H. Hardy; 1882-84, C. Byrne; 1885-86, G. N. Bryant; 1887-89, Wesley J. Wilkins; 1890-92, Geo. M. Stephen; 1893, Geo. R. Lock; 1894-96, Geo. A. McLucas; 1897-98, Herbert F. Quimby; 1899-1902, John E. Sweet; 1903-06, Dick E. Burns; 1907-1908, Wm. P. White.

Freewill Baptist—As early as 1810 services were held by people of this faith, and have done so at various intervals since.

Physicians—Caleb Morse, Asa Crosby, Ichabod Shaw, Thomas Shannon, John M. Emerson, George Peavey, Frank L. Judkins, William H. H. Mason, George L. Mason, Frank S. Lovering, Leonard B. Morrill and Mr. Hatch. Present physician, F. S. Lovering.

PART II

Census-1908

The population of the towns of Ashland, Plymouth, Sandwich, Campton, Centre Harbor and Moultonboro has been arranged in families where it has been possible. In addition to the resident living members, the names of the non-resident members are included. It should be borne in mind that this plan does not include the names of all former residents of this town, as the names of the non-residents appear only when one or both of the parents are still living in the town. After the name of each non-resident will be found the present address, when such address has been given to us. Non-residents are indicated by the (*).

When a daughter in a family has married, her name taken in marriage appears after her given name in parenthesis, the name preceded by a small m, thus: (m).

Following the names of the population is the occupations. To designate these we have used the more common abbreviations and contractions, as follows: Farmer—far; carpenter—car; railroad service—R R ser; student, a member of an advanced institution of learning—stu; pupil, a member of a lower grade of schools (including all who have reached the age of five years)—pl; housework—ho; laborer—lab; physician and surgeon—phy & sur; clergyman—clerg; merchant—mer; teacher—tr; blacksmith—blk; clerk—cl; book-keeper—bk kpr; lawyer—law; mechanic mech; machinist—mach; engineer—eng; maker—mkr; worker—wkr; work—wk; shoe shop operative—ssop; cotton or woolen mill operatives—mill op; weaver—weav; spinner—spin; electrician—elec; painter—ptr; carriage work—car wk; dress maker—dr mkr; insurance—ins; traveling salesman, or commercial traveler—sales, or coml trav; music teacher—mus tr; teamster—team; general work—genl wk; mariner—mar; employ—emp; retired—ret; telephone operative—tel op; telegraph operative—teleg op.
